The APC BR1500G Backup Battery is pretty large in terms of size. It has five battery backup and surge-protected outlets and another set of five outlets with only surge protection, for a total of ten. However, there are no USB ports to plug in your phone directly. There's also a small backlit LCD that shows plenty of information at a glance.

Comparatively, partial-home battery backup systems usually store around 10 to 15 kWh. Given that power outages are infrequent in most parts of the country, a partial-home battery backup system is generally all you'll need. But, if your utility isn't always reliable for power, whole-home battery backup may be the way to go.

My strongest runs are battery-based. For just a tiny 35 scrap, you get 2 extra power, enough for an auxiliary system. 50 is also a lower price than late game power, $35+35=70$. It gives you ...

If the power back door system does not operate and/or the back door does not open, disconnect the cable from the negative (-) auxiliary battery terminal. Then wait 10 seconds, reconnect the cable and perform initialization of the power back door system again. This is what I ...

Backup Battery A backup battery can be very useful to provide a little bit of extra power when you really need it, if you use battery power to power and use a system and then the battery cools down, the system still works and doesn't consume any of your reactor power for it's cool down. Use this information how you will.

Hybrid Vehicle Auxiliary Battery. Most Hybrid vehicles such as the Toyota Prius feature a conventional 12 Volt auxiliary battery in addition to the high voltage hybrid system battery. The 12 Volt battery is not used for engine starting or to power the traction motors but is used to supply power to:

An uninterruptable power supply (UPS) is a type of backup battery that will continue to provide electrical power to the electronics that you have plugged into it even if electricity from your home outlets cuts out.

Some systems at the substation may require lower voltages as their auxiliary supply source. A typical example of these systems would be the optical telecommunication devices or the power line carrier (PLC) equipment, which normally requires 48 V. If the power consumption of these devices is low enough, their supply can be arranged with DC/DC ...

Buy power as you need it to power a new weapon or more engines or whatever. Don't buy it just to buy it. Ideally you'll end up with all power bars maxed and still wish you had more. Then get a battery backup. You are correct about power to the engines only really mattering when a shot is actually incoming.

No, the subsystems (piloting, sensors, doors and backup battery) do not take power from the reactor. They can still be damaged, which will disable them until they are repaired. They can also be upgraded for better performance. More information on subsystems can be found on the FTL Wiki.

"Have Hacking, Mind Control and the Battery all active at once." This achievement is not acquired simply by having all three systems (Hacking, Mind Control, and Backup Battery) installed on your Lanius ship. In addition, this achievement is not acquired if you use Mind Control and the Battery while a Hacking drone is merely attached to the enemy ship. All three systems have to be ...
